Introduction

The solicitors listed in this information sheet are understood to deal with aspects of adults with incapacity law and mental health law. The information was mainly gathered from the Law Society of Scotland's website: www.lawscot.org.uk

Each firm was contacted by phone or their website checked to see if they deal with powers of attorney and/or guardianships and intervention orders.

Alzheimer Scotland provides this list as a source of information only. Inclusion on this list does not constitute a recommendation and Alzheimer Scotland cannot make any guarantees about these solicitors, their level of expertise or the service they provide. We strongly advise anybody seeking legal advice to check the amount of experience he/she has in the area of incapacity and mental health.

Costs and legal aid

Always ask the solicitor for an estimate of the cost of the work before he/she starts. You should also ask if the firm or solicitor deals with clients requiring legal aid – not all firms do. Legal aid allows people who would not otherwise be able to afford it to get help for their legal problems.

The Scottish Legal Aid Board is responsible for managing legal aid in Scotland. Contact them for more information on 0845 122 8686 or see their website:
www.slab.org.uk

For information about the provisions of the Adults with Incapacity (Scotland) Act 2000 and the Mental Health (Care and Treatment) (Scotland) Act 2003 see our booklet Dementia: Money & Legal Matters (available free of charge to people with dementia and carers; £5.00 for organisations and professionals). To request a copy, contact the Dementia Helpline on 0808 808 3000.
