

Queen Margaret University
EDINBURGH

School of Health Sciences and Alzheimer Scotland

Developing Rights-Based Practice for Allied Health Professionals working with People Living with Dementia, their Families & Carers

MSc AHP Module – 15 Credits

This module is co-produced and delivered in partnership between Alzheimer Scotland and Queen Margaret University. The module seeks to identify and abstract key concepts of relevance to allied health professionals from the charter of rights for people with dementia, irrespective of allied health professional practice contexts.

The module aims to develop the knowledge, skills and expertise in allied health professionals and will engage you in critical discussions surrounding rights-based practice when working with people living with dementia, their families and carers. The module is aimed at ALL allied health professionals from NHS both physical and mental health care, ambulance services, local authority and third sector. The teaching team have national and international profiles in the field of dementia care.

COURSE AIMS

The module is designed to

- Develop a depth of understanding and extend critical analysis of knowledge associated with the principles of rights-based practice when working with people living with dementia, their families and carers.
- Identify and abstract key elements of the charter of rights-based practice relevant to individual allied health practice contexts, when working with people living with dementia, their families and carers
- Critically engage with, take responsibility for, initiate and autonomously translate rights-based principles to allied health professionals practice contexts.

COURSE CONTENT

DAY 1 Tuesday 26th September 2017

- Consider Rights Based Practice in the current policy context led by Henry Simmons, Chief Executive, Alzheimer Scotland
- Introduction to on-line working and data base searching, led by Sheila Williams
- Reflections and expectations of the module, led by Elaine Hunter & Fiona Maclean

DAY 2 Tuesday 24th October 2017

- Seeing the person; living with dementia, led by Fiona Maclean
- Introducing the policy context & appreciative inquiry, led by Elaine Hunter
- Consider with people living with dementia what rights based practice means, led by the Scottish Dementia Working Group
- Identify the artistry and transformation change required in services today, led by Elaine Hunter

DAY 3 Tuesday 21st November 2017

- Critically appraise the available evidence to inform AHP practice, led by Dr Duncan Pentland
- Debate the AHP role of rehabilitation in dementia care
- Evaluate opportunities to implement the evidence base in practice hearing from a range of AHP including Physiotherapy, Music Therapy, Speech and Language Therapy

The assessment will be on the 18th January 2018

Working with national dementia carers action network in this process

FEE

Fees for 2017 for the 15 credit module is £475. Information concerning fees can be found here www.qmu.ac.uk/registry/feespg1516.htm

Alzheimer Scotland are developing a bursary towards the partial cost of this fee. If you are interested in finding out more about possible funding support from Alzheimer Scotland please contact Ian McMillan at IMcMillan@qmu.ac.uk

ENTRY

The module is aimed at ALL allied health professionals who have an interest in developing their continued professional development in dementia care.

APPLICATION

The admissions web site is www.qmu.ac.uk/prospective_students/advice_on_applying/how_to_apply.htm

CONTACT US

Fiona Maclean
Tel 0131 474 0000
Email fmaclean@qmu.ac.uk

Elaine Hunter
Tel 0131 243 1499
Email ehunter@alzscot.org

Making sure nobody faces dementia alone.